UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA CHAMBER ORCHESTRA AND CHOIR
TO PERFORM IN HELENA

MISSOULA --

The University of Montana's Chamber Orchestra and the University Choir will perform Mozart's "Requiem" under the direction of Don Carey, UM professor of music, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 3, in the Cathedral of St. Helena.

The concert, which is free and open to the public, will feature soloists Priscilla Chadduck, soprano; Esther England, alto; Terry Annalora, tenor; and Patrick Williams, bass.

The "Requiem" was Mozart's last piece of work, and unfinished at the time of his death. A student who was working with him on the music finished it later. The "Requiem" is composed of twelve movements, based on biblical verses dealing with judgement of the dead, praise for God and a final sense of peace. The piece was a major focus in the film, "Amadeus," although the historical facts surrounding it were distorted in the movie.

For more information about the concert, call UM's Department of Music, 243-6880.
